

Please leave the Wisconsin no-call-list alone! Before this list, my family was answering the telemarketers phone calls approximately 10 times a day just to have to tell them not to call again (in which they do not listen). How would they like it if we were calling them 10 times a day playing with and wasting their precious business phone line use? They ask many invasive questions, use trickery, and you never know who you are even talking to or what you may be getting yourself into. We will call if we want their business, not them calling to bully us into their services. It just shows their inability to get business by word of mouth or mailings and it makes their companies look bad right off the bat anyway. We are paying the phone bill; it is our phone and our paid service. Why then is our phone being used more for their purpose than for our own use. There has been times where we couldn't even use our phone because when we hang up from the telemarketers pretaped recordings (in which we wouldn't even waste the time listening to) there was no way we could use our phone until these recordings were totally finished. What if we needed to dial 911 or another emergency service? If they start the calls again, we may as well consider getting rid of our phone altogether as long as we can't use it anyway and we have totally lost our right to freedom in our own homes! The United States is suppose to be a Democracy. The majority says "Stop these telemarketing calls now!"
